Language editor

idioma is an international publishing company specialized in technical documentation. We handle translation, layout work and printing projects for clients mainly in Japan, where our head office is.

We are looking for language editors to join our international teams. You will work with proofreading, checking and eventually editing of text into your native language.

Type of Work We prepare and publish texts in multiple languages for e.g. operating instructions supplied with TVs, stereos, refrigerators, air conditioners, cameras, cars, etc., product leaflets, promotional brochures, company web sites, etc.

Language editors work with:

- Proofreading – Read and correct documents translated by others
- Checking – Review and amend incomplete texts to make a final document
- Editing – Editing text from one language into another (your mother tongue)

Flexible Work Work is on a freelance basis. You work at home on your PC with standard MS Office applications. You decide if you want to accept and decline assignments. Earn anywhere from €200 to €2,000 per month depending on your availability.

Languages Required We are looking for language editors to work with one of the following languages. If you master more than one language, this is a valuable asset. Good knowledge of English is required.

Arabic	Danish	German	Italian	Maltese	Slovak	Urdu
Bosnian	Dutch	Greek	Japanese	Norwegian	Slovenian	Vietnamese
