

Instructions for the semester and the state exam at the First Department of Internal Diseases, section of Cardiology:

Starting from the summer semester of 2021/2022, the exams are going to be conducted live due to the improved epidemiological situation.

Both exams begin with a practical part, and after its successful completion, a theoretical part is held – written and oral.

For the semester exam, three topics are written – one from each section of internal medicine (Cardiology+Rheumatology, Pulmonology, Hematology), and for the state exam – two – one from the field of Cardiology and one from all the other areas in the conspect.
