Notice to all students

Dear students,

We would like to remind you that according to the Rules and Regulations of Medical University – Plovdiv you have to observe the following rules:

1. All students are obliged to take part in the lectures and practical classes (Rules and Regulations on the organization of the educational activities at the Medical University – Plovdiv, Article 94);
2. Giving the fact that students work with infectious material at the Department, they are allowed to attend practical classes in Microbiology and Clinical immunology only with their white coats put on. A student without a white coat cannot take part in the relevant practical class and is marked as an absent;
3. Students are not allowed to be late for the practical classes. A student who is late for more than 5 minutes cannot take part in the relevant practical class and is marked as an absent;
4. Students have to re-work the practical classes they missed due to respectful reason during the same week. If this is not possible they have to re-work the relevant practical classes at the end of the semester according to the schedule that will be published;
5. Students, who have not attended at 30 % of all practical classes due to respectful reason, will not be given the opportunity to re-work the relevant practical classes they have missed. The student must write a request to the Vice Dean of Educational Activities of the Faculty, who will propose the decision for the re-note of the practical class (Rules and Regulations on the organization of the educational activities at the Medical University – Plovdiv, Article 96(2));
6. Students with poor marks at the end of the semester will not pass the relevant semester and cannot attend the exam;
7. Use of any electronic devices during the practical classes for other purposes, except academic ones, is strictly forbidden.

All information concerning the lecture topic list, the practical classes topic list, the synopsis for the final exam, the recommended literature list as well as the atlas for the practical exam in microbiology can be found uploaded on the website of the department:
